

Yes, Minister... "The Greasy Pole"

You should now know enough Economics to make sense out of what's going on here, economically. This episode is all about marginal analysis.

1. What will be the positive economic impact of the metadoxin plant?
2. Are there any economic drawbacks to metadoxin?
3. What will be the positive political impact of the metadoxin plant?
4. Are there any political drawbacks to metadoxin?
5. What is Hacker's justification for his decision about the metadoxin plant?
6. Do you agree with Hacker's decision? Would you have made a different choice? What would be the benefits and drawbacks of your choice? Be specific, and use the other side to answer this one.

Webb's favorite quote:

Jim Hacker: "Ministers are not experts. They are chosen expressly because they know nothing."

What's your favorite quote?